

District:District/College	College:District/College	Choose option 1, 2, 3a, or 3b All of these options are for all students implicated in AB 705: U.S. high school graduate students (including ELL & ESL students) in certificate, degree or transfer programs. Under specific sets of conditions, for students wh
Foothill-De Anza CCD	De Anza College (Math Plan)	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Citrus Community College District	Citrus College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Ohlone CCD	Ohlone College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Lassen Community College	Lassen Community College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Los Angeles Community College District	Los Angeles Harbor College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Contra Costa Community College District	Los Medanos	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Shasta-Tehama-Trinity Joint Community College Distri	Shasta College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Sequoias Community College District	College of the Sequoias	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Long Beach City College District	Long Beach City College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Rancho Santiago Community College District	Santa Ana College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
San Diego Community College District	San Diego Mesa College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
State Center Community College District	Fresno City College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Coast Community College District	Orange Coast College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Chabot-Las Positas Community College District	Chabot College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Cerritos Community College	Cerritos Community College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Palo Verde Community College	Palo Verde College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Hartnell Community College District	Hartnell Community College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.

Copper Mountain Community College District	Copper Mountain College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
San Jose Evergreen Community College District	San Jose City College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
San Diego Community College District	San Diego City College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
San Diego Community College District	San Diego Miramar College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Coast Community College District	Coastline College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Los Angeles Community College District	West Los Angeles College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Yuba Community College District	Woodland Community College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Peralta Community College District	College of Alameda	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
San Bernardino Community College District	San Bernardino Valley College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Yuba Community College District	Yuba College	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.
Peralta	Merritt	Option 3: The college will have default transfer-level placement and enrollment into math/quantitative reasoning and English for all or most students by fall 2022 but will continue to enroll some students into pre-transfer-level courses, either by requirement or choice.